

'Her Crowning Glory' Is Topic Of Beta Sigma Phi Open Meet

By ALICE PERKIN
FA 8-5365

"Her Crowning Glory" will be the title of the cultural program planned for the opening meeting of the Ontario Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Mrs. William Swisher, of 914 Maple, is president of the organization and she along with the other members will entertain prospective pledges and other interested parties at the home of Mrs. J. L. Halsey, of Lomita. Besides learning how to fix their hair, the invited guests will be served ice cream cake and coffee.

Bits of the Petrified Forest will dance from Mrs. William Crooker's ear lobes from now on.

She was again the happy winner of the Westchester Bridge Club's card party held last Thursday, and the prize this time was clever ear-rings made from the multi-colored wood.

Saturday night the same group met again, this time complete with husbands. The Crookers won again.

Stepping out last Saturday night were the Jack Klinzings, of 2829 Orondo St.

As guests of the State Bridge Department, where Klinzing is employed, the couple enjoyed an evening of dining and dancing at the Clock Country Club in Whittier. Preceding the affair they were entertained at a cocktail party held at the home of the H. J. Hargers, of Manhattan Beach.

Walt Disney did his share of the entertaining at Cindy Tolson's fifth birthday party last Saturday.

His little animated characters decorated the party hats, place-mats, candy cups and gaily colored centerpieces. Mrs. Robert Tolson, of 1222 Tern, entertained Cindy's little guests by first taking them on kiddie rides and upon their return treated them to vanilla ice cream, delicate white cake, and pink lemonade.

Those attending were cousins, Lou Ann Witt and Carol Ann Tolson, Leslie and Claudia Barington, Peggy Post, Debra Agapito, Stephanie Nohr, Debra Monnie, Polly Sullivan, Diane DeSanto, and Cindy's younger brother, four-year-old Bobbie.

Two tables looking for a name.

Deciding that their local bridge group needs a name, the members are racking their brains and will come forth with something at their next party. Even without a formal name they enjoyed themselves at their last meeting at the home of Mrs. William Casey, of 3318 Torrance Blvd.

After a dessert of fruit and whip-cream sherbert, and coffee the card game went to lucky Mrs. Wayne Norman of 1109 Cranbrook. Consolation prize was won by Mrs. Robert Emma. Those attending were Meses. William Crooker, Wayne Norman, Phil Patton, Robert Davenport, John Moore, Thomas Edmonds, William Casey, and Robert Emma.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Nohr, of 2818 Eldorado, were active in the Jaycee co-sponsored dance after the dedication of the Atmore on National Guard Day.

The affair was well-attended and although the guests danced in semi-darkness, Mrs. Nohr spotted some neighbors—Messers. and Meses. F. Hansen, Jack Smith, Nolan Stuckey, and Clyde Anderson.

After the dance the couples departed for midnight suppers.

Dolls, Dolls, Dolls! Some were made from lobsters, some from seashells and clothespins, and even some from turkey wish-bones!

Over a 1000 interesting dolls were enjoyed by the Brownie Troop 532 on their excursion to a Los Angeles doll shop last week.

They all enjoyed seeing the dolls, some over 100 years old, and one doll that was a rare collector's item. It seems that during the time of the German Kaiser, some dolls were produced that were so ugly that the molds were destroyed. Somehow one survived and is on display at the Shop. There were dolls there from all over the world.

The 14 girls in the Troop were escorted by Meses. William Marceau, Frank Frohnhoefer, Charles Marquand, Paul Anderson, Harold Rapstad, James Bunts and Jack Eardley. With the exception of Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Eardley, all these ladies are from our tract.

Flying via three different airlines, the A. Armisteads, of 2759 Orondo, spent a fabulous vacation in the distinctly foreign atmosphere of Havana and Puerto Rico.

They stayed first at the Seville Biltmore in Havana for three days visiting the historical points and sightseeing around the government buildings.

Leaving there, they traveled down to San Juan, Puerto Rico, where they stayed with friends Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Landon for nine days enjoying the rich mountain scenery, beautiful beaches, and pleasant climate. The Landon home is right off the Beach of San Turco on the outskirts of San Juan. While there they visited the El Moro Fortress used before the Spanish-American War to hold off attackers, and built in 1850.

They visited old San Juan, the original city. Although Puerto Rico is a U. S. possession the Armisteads found that they were at a loss to understand the spanish speaking people.

The Landons, with whom they stayed are high-school friends and he is employed with the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

"Ye Olde English Trifle" and coffee were served to guests of and Mrs. Weinger, Mr. and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cantle, of 1309 Florwood, at a party last Saturday night.

This old English dessert is variable but when concocted by Mrs. Cantle consists of pound cake soaked in sherry, topped with gelatin, fruit and crowned with whipped cream. Her guests from San Pedro and L. A. came down expressly for dinner and the ACCENT! Theatre! play after which they returned to Mrs. Cantle to discuss "The Rose Tattoo" and enjoyed the delicious refreshments.

Those attending were Dr. Charles Orland, of San Pedro; Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Steinhart, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Mal Sagenkahn, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harestad, of Torrance.

Have you been to the "Long Beach Drag" recently? What is it? Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clifford of 2822 Eldorado an authority on this racing car event. After winning three trophies in his car class, Clifford explained that at this affair, time is of the essence, as time is clocked on stock cars, hot rods, and even motorcycles. Each car is classed according to weight. Boasting relatively few accidents, times have been clocked as high as 136 miles per hour.
